

1970

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT ARLINGTON

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Fort wing exas at lern, 300
wn Arling-e area pro-ational ence muamuseeral

WE ARE INTERESTED IN YOU

FACULTY

The faculty of The University of Texas at Arlington School of Nursing is composed of individuals who are capable of performing the highest quality teaching activity, scholarly activity, and service activity. Faculty believes in providing students the opportunity to acquire knowledge, understanding, skill, and problem-solving abilities which prepare them to assume their role as professional nurses in society.

STUDENTS

Approximately 350 students attend the UTA School of Nursing. The student body is composed of men and women from diverse age groups and ethnic backgrounds.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING

The School of Nursing is located in Fort Worth, a short drive from the University of Texas at Arlington campus. It is housed in a one and one-half story building adjacent to John Peter Smith Hospital.

The Tarrant County Hospital District's extensive medical-nursing library, as well as the library at The University of Texas at Arlington, is accessible to the faculty.

BACCALAUREATE PROGRAM

Masters Program, plans for implementing a graduate program are in progress

Continuing Education Programs

You are invited to consider joining the faculty of a National League for Nursing accredited School of Nursing. The faculty is committed to the promotion and support of excellence in professional nursing through teaching, research and public service.

If you are interested, we would like to hear from you.

Sincerely,

Myrna Pickard

Myrna Pickard, Dean

PROGRAMS

The curriculum of The University of Texas at Arlington School of Nursing is based on three major concepts: holistic man, health-illness continuum, and nursing. The baccalaureate nursing major begins in the junior year after completion of sixty hours of general course work. The entrance requirements provide a foundation for understanding holistic man as he exists in different states of health and illness. The curriculum is divided into four levels to provide continuity, sequence, and integration in the learning experiences.

All of the major clinical areas of nursing including psychiatric nursing, maternal-child health nursing, medical-surgical nursing, and community health nursing are studied each semester with increasing depth and complexity.

To provide learning experiences for the student, a variety of institutions and agencies are utilized. The larger metropolitan hospitals as well as smaller community hospitals provide the student an opportunity for clinical nursing practice. The School utilizes numerous community agencies including public schools, home health agencies, planned parenthood centers, nursing homes, and day care centers to broaden the student's clinical experience.

In the clinical area, the student applies theoretical nursing concepts to patient care. The nursing process is applied in every clinical area as a framework for acquiring new information, identifying client needs, assisting the client in meeting the needs, and in evaluating the end product. By utilizing the nursing process at increasing levels of complexity, each individual student can integrate concepts of man and wellness into his practice of professional nursing.

THE COMMUNITY

Located in the heart of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, one of the fastest growing areas in the nation, The University of Texas at Arlington reflects that growth on a modern, 300 acre campus a few blocks from downtown Arlington. In addition to campus activity, the area provides a wide range of cultural and recreational facilities including art, historical and science museums, operas, concerts, ballet, theater, amusement parks, professional sports, and several lakes for water sports.

A CHALLENGE AWAITS YOU

GENERAL INFORMATION

An Equal Opportunities/Affirmative Action Employer
Competitive salaries and retirement benefits
Nine-month appointments with option for summer employment
Funds for travel to professional meetings
Good orientation program and faculty development opportunities
Opportunities for research activities
A clinical liaison coordinator who makes clinical arrangements
Audiovisual resources for faculty, including production facilities and technical personnel to assist faculty with teaching materials
Secretarial support services

For further information contact:

Dr. Myrna Pickard, R.N., Ed.D., Dean
The University of Texas at Arlington
School of Nursing
1500 South Main Street
Fort Worth, Texas 76104

or call: (817) 921-3291

1970

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT ARLINGTON

SCHOOL OF NURSING

WE ARE INTERESTED IN