GIVING CREDIT WHERE IT'S DUE

USING APA STYLE TO CITE SOURCES

Using outside sources like books or articles in your assignment makes your arguments more credible. You demonstrate that your arguments are not just your opinion, but are based on evidence.

When you use other people's ideas in your work, you must observe the rules of academic integrity and cite your sources. Citations prevent any confusion over what is original to you and what you are borrowing. Citation styles like APA (American Psychological Association) or MLA (Modern Language Association) supply a standard method for identifying sources.

Use the examples in this brochure to help you cite your sources accurately. If you need more guidance, contact your instructor, the UT Arlington Writing Center, or a librarian.

DOCUMENTING SOURCES

CITING REFERENCES IN THE BODY

*Cite paraphrased documents by putting the author's last name and the date of publication, separated by a comma, in parentheses.

**Cite quoted documents by putting the author's last name, date of publication, and page number, separated by commas, in parentheses.

Examples:

Single Author*

(Walker, 2000)

Two Authors**

(Check & Buss, 1981, p. 322)

Three to Five Authors*

First time referenced (Wasserstein, Zappulla, Rosen, Gerstman, & Rock, 1994)

Subsequent references (Wasserstein, et al., 1994)

Six of More Authors

(Kosslyn et al., 1996, p. 184).

Author's Name in Sequence

Walker (2000) compared reaction times...

Indirect Source

Buss indicated ... (as cited in Atkins & Haller, 1993).

CREATING THE REFERENCE LIST

List materials cited in the body of the paper in the "References" section located at the end of the paper. Organize references alphabetically by the first author's last name; start each entry with a hanging indent, and use double spacing:

Buss, D. M., & Schmidt, D. P. (1993). Sexual strategies theory: An evolutionary perspective. Psychological Review, 100, 204-232.

Henry, W. A., III (1990, April 9). Beyond the melting pot. Time, 135, 28-31.

INFORMATION FOR THE REFERENCE LIST

Include all information necessary for someone else to find the same resource. If there is no author, begin the reference with the document title, then put the publication year in parentheses. If there is no date, put “n.d.” in parentheses.

PRINT SOURCES

ONLINE SOURCES

There are two ways to cite online articles: with or without a DOI (digital object identifier) number. When a DOI is available, always include the DOI, instead of the URL, in the reference. If there is no DOI assigned, give the exact URL (if the content is freely available online) or the URL of the journal's home page (if the content is accessible by subscription only). See APA manual for more information about DOIs.
