Helping Restore Ability
4300 Beltway Place, Suite 130

My mother and I are clients of Helping Restore Ability, and have been for several years. HRA representatives daily provide vital personal care tasks for us, which keeps the Dycuses out of a nursing home. We are not ashamed that we need assistance; indeed, we're pleased that over a long relationship with HRA the agency has often showcased us as a high-quality-of-life alternative to the greedy, inefficient, expedient institutionalization that too many hospitals, too many doctors, too many social workers and too many politicians consider not only appropriate and obvious but mandatory.

This letter gives permission to share the above and any other non-sensitive/non-private/public knowledge/public domain information about us, in the full range of conversational settings, with and among, to and from, all employees of Helping Restore Ability, full time, part time, half time, hourly, salaried, prospective, retired, resigned, justly terminated, unjustly terminated, disillusioned but hanging on, disillusioned and outta there, the agency's vendors, publicists, clients, community partners, prayer partners, Facebook connections, Twitter followers, active board members, passive board members, current donors, past donors, future donors, the fat cats and the small fry.

And their families.

And their friends.

And their business associates.

This permission is retroactive to 1977.
