2nd Annual Student Film Competition

Finalists, have your film shown on the silver screen!

Alamo DraftHouse 1120 South Lamar Austin, TX

OCTOBER 3-4, 2008

2008 CTD Student Film Competition:

The Coalition of Texans with Disabilities (CTD) is hosting the award-winning Fifth Annual Cinema Touching Disability Film Festival to promote community awareness of the capability of people with disabilities.

Cinema reflects society and disability has long played a prominent role in movie history. In 2007, CTD established a student film competition to empower emerging filmmakers by providing them with an opportunity to create and express a multitude of images portraying people with disabilities. Showcasing the various talents of creative youth, the CTD Student Film Competition returns for its second year, with separate divisions for Secondary Level (grades 6-12) and College student filmmakers.

Prizes:

The top three finalists from each division will be invited as guests to the Fifth Annual Cinema Touching Disability Film Festival and their films will be premiered on the silver screen!

Friday night, College division finalists will be recognized, while Secondary Level finalists will be honored Saturday night. A ceremony will be held honoring all finalists. Winning filmmakers will also be awarded with the following respective prizes:

About CTD & the Award Winning Cinema Touching Disability Film Festival

The Coalition of Texans with Disabilities (CTD) is a social and economic impact organization representing people of all disabilities of all ages. CTD designed the award winning Cinema Touching Disability Film Festival to bring awareness about disabilities through films portraying disability as a main theme.

This year CTD is hosting its 2nd Annual Student Film Competition for Secondary Level and College students. We want to see your disability themed short films! A panel of notable judges evaluate and rank the winning films.

Filmmakers: Have your movie shown at the Alamo Drafthouse!
