opportunity of seeing a longer time. How differently your time. Think of coming on the Lords day, but it is a great consolation that though widely apart under very different circumstances our prayers would perhaps at the same time for each other spiritual & temporal welfare. Thank again Charlie and my dear sisters for their letters, they turn to continue the good habit of writing often. Never forget to pay postage on the letters may they reach one, but be detained at Metamoras. A paper from Charles June 10 reached me, yours had not as yet, but may be brought up by the return from Conner to Corency. Hoping to write soon again I remain in your affectionate love, George.
